Hazlewood Announces For Senate

Senator Grady Hazlewood will seek re-election to the Texas Senate post for the 31st Senatorial District.

The district has been enlarged by four counties so that it is comprised of the 20 upper Panhandle counties. Additions are Armstrong, Collingsworth, Deaf Smith and Donley Counties. Hazlewood's tenure in the Texas Senate is exceeded by only one member, Senator A.M. Aikin, Jr. of Paris. The veteran Panhandle legislator has served for a quarter of a century.

Hazlewood's friends have prevailed upon him for several months to run another time. They contend that the senator's seniority will be of great benefit to his district.

Viet Cong Kill Canyon Soldier

A Canyon soldier was cut down Saturday in a Viet Cong ambush in Viet Nam.

Capt. Donald R. Blair, 27 years old, 1709 Sixth Avenue was killed at Long Hai about 50 miles from Saigon. He was with an Army convoy on patrol when the ambush took place.

He is the husband of Bonnie Evans Blair of the home address and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Blair of 2708 Third Avenue.

Captain Blair became Canyon's first casualty of the Viet Nam war.

"He thought he ought to be there," the mother of Captain Blair said Tuesday. "He was devoted to what he was doing."

Rates Low On Viet Nam Air Parcels

Air parcel rates will not be charged for air transportation of mail to servicemen in Viet Nam, according to Canyon Postmaster Marion Higdon.

Any parcel weighing no more than five pounds will be transported on ordinary rates by air by the post office department to its port of embarkation, and from there the military will fly it to its destination on a space available arrangement, said Higdon. He added that such mail space is almost always available immediately.

This policy for parcels addressed to servicemen in South Vietnam has been in effect some time, commented Higdon, but many persons neglect to take advantage of it. It will be continued indefinitely, so that packages may be sent with the greatest speed and least expense.

EXAMINING SHOWMANSHIP trophies which will be awarded in the 19th annual Junior Livestock Show are Crisler Crain, left, president of the association and Lewis Tucek, chairman of the Farm Bureau committee which sponsors the department showmanship trophies. Other members of the trophy committee were Paul Dudenhoeffer and Leroy Bauer.

Local School District Given Planning Grant

A planning grant of $24,555 has been approved for Canyon Independent School District under Title Three of the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The school district made application for the grant as sponsor of a proposed Texas Cooperative Dissemination Project involving all schools of the Panhandle area. Huey Laycock, Canyon superintendent, will receive and administer the grant, and Dr. Emmitt Smith, director of program development and research at West Texas State University, will direct the project.

"We feel this program shows real promise, as far as we're concerned locally," commented Laycock. Its general purpose would be to increase effectiveness of specific national research groups in providing new information to elementary, secondary and university levels.

An estimated total of 60,000 persons, including 5000 teachers and 55,000 pupils, would be affected by the proposal, which has been planned to operate through the In-Service Instructional Program. This organ would include academic specialists working to receive understanding and techniques developed in various research projects. The specialists would transfer the information to local teachers at all levels, in simplified and digest form.

The program is fashioned to supplement the Panhandle Educational Services Organization, for which planning was begun last summer by Smith, in cooperation with the U. S. Office of Education. PESO involves increased educational opportunities for deprived children.

According to the dissemination project proposal, one of the greatest needs in the educational progress of the nation today is to bring into action more effective means of disseminating professional information to inservice teachers and students. Professional information dealt with here would include findings of selected graduate research programs, research sponsoring foundations, national research oriented (See LOCAL, Page 7)

Junior Stock Show Friday And Saturday

Largest Show-Sale In Years Expected

BY LORENA MILLER

The 19th annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show to be held in Canyon Friday and Saturday is expected to be the largest held in several years, according to Crisler Crain, Randall County Junior Livestock Association president.

Largest division of the show will be the swine department, with some 143 pigs expected to be shown by 4-H boys and girls and members of the Future Farmers of America and other Randall County youth.

A majority of the 93 FFA members are expected to participate in the annual livestock show according to Carroll Duncan, sponsor. FFA entries include 110 pigs, 16 lambs, 9 steers, 6 horses, 5 dairy heifers and 3 beef heifers.

Preliminary 4-H entries include 23 pigs, 18 horses, 9 dairy heifers, 7 steers, 6 beef heifers, and 25 lambs. John Brazzil, county agent, also expects several animals to be shown by youth from Happy.

Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded in each division of the show according to Wesley Cox, general superintendent of the annual show. The executive committee includes Crisler Crain, Paul Dudenhoeffer, Emil Olson, James Bible and Wesley Cox.

Showmanship trophies, sponsored by the Randall County Farm Bureau, will be given in the divisions of steer, heifer, pig, lamb, horse, and dairy.

The second annual George "Farmer" Schaeffer award will be given during the show to an outstanding youth who does not exhibit in the show. "Farmer" Schaeffer was active in promoting the Junior Livestock Association until his death.

Canyon Kiwanis Club sponsors the Novice Showmanship trophy which is given to a first year showman who proves outstanding.

Cash prizes ranging from $1 through $10 will be awarded following the judging of animals. The sale will begin at 6:30 p. m. Saturday following the conclusion of all judging events.

"We expect our sale this year to be as good or better than last year," said John Brazzil, county agent. Exhibitors totalled $12,000 in the 1965 sale with the average set at 48.5 cents per pound on steers, 72 cents even on sheep and 41.8 cents on hogs.

The show will be held at the Randall County Junior Livestock Building in Canyon with all animals due in place by 5 p. m. January 14 or before. Any exhibitor may show who lives in Randall County if supervised by a County Agent or Vocational Agriculture teacher.

Miss Green will compete next in auditions in Lubbock January 22 for the honor of playing in the All-State Band, which will meet in Dallas February 10-12.

Club Gives Awards To Clark, Shepard

D. P. Clark and Ronnie Shepard were presented Outstanding Citizenship Awards Friday by the Canyon Kiwanis Club, in recognition of outstanding service to the community.

Shepard, Amarillo student at West Texas State University, was cited for his local work through activities of Circle K Club, college Kiwanis affiliate of which Shepard is past president. Club sponsor Capt. William V. Johnson commended him for serving "diligently and tirelessly" in the organizations and the community.

Shepard was born in Amarillo in 1944 and graduated from Amarillo High School. He will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in history from WTSU this month, after which he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Regular Army. The regular commission will be due to his status as a Distinguished Military Graduate.

President of Circle K in 1964-65, Shepard served last year as chairman of the Texas-Oklahoma District Convention April 2-4, 1965, and was also greatly responsible for a second place award in the 1964-65 Achievement Contest, which was accepted at the Circle K International Convention last summer.

The Advanced R.O.T.C. student's other honors include membership in Scabbard and

'66 Census Being Taken

Taking of the 1966 school census for Canyon school system began yesterday, Wednesday, according to Superintendent Huey Laycock.

The census will be taken throughout the month, during which time letter carriers and bus drivers will make a door-to-door survey to enumerate children who, by September 1, 1965, were between the ages of six and eighteen years. Also enumerated will be children under six years of age.

The yearly census is the basis on which officials project their need for teachers in the school district. Work on teacher placement begins in March, and Laycock stressed the importance of having an accurate count of school age children.

Letter carriers will conduct the survey in Canyon, bus drivers will take the census on their routes, and Lee Foster will cover fringe rural areas.

Martinez Fund Is Started

Canyon people this week began collecting a fund for the John Martinez family.

Mrs. Martinez, 36 years old, died in December leaving a family of three children. Friends say expenses in connection with her illness were extremely heavy.

Martinez is employed as a laborer with the Santa Fe Railway.

The children are Diana, 18; Stevie, 14; and Lydia Marie, 7.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Martinez family may do so by contacting W.A. "Bill" Wilson at his office in the court house or Don Standley at First National Bank.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

I suddenly realized this week that one of the most discouraging things about my thrice daily trip to the post office is the bulk of unpalatable mail I am obliged to bring back with me.

Hardly a day passes that I do not receive at least 10 pieces of mail from some sub-division of government. Almost never is the unsolicited information they contain of any value whatever to myself or the readers of this newspaper.

Bureaus have a tendency to send along "news" items of self-aggrandizement.

This goes for some of our elected officials too. Under the guise of a "Washington Report," Senator Ralph Yarborough showers Texas newspapers with items that range from irrelevant to silly. One message comes through in the senator's epistles, however, he seems dedicated to taking wealth away from the producers of this country and placing it at the feet of those who have neither toiled nor spun.

Periodically I get one letter I value highly from a government official. I am referring now to messages from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Writing from the vantage point of his office and his experience, Hoover often comes through with information that every American should possess.

Much government mail is in the form of directives. Only today I received a directive from a state bureau ordering me to fill out a certain form within 30 days or be fined $100 and be carted off to the pokie for a month.

There was nothing polite about this letter. It was a simple either or else.

The state government wanted to know how many Canyon News employees were injured on the job last year. Although no News employees were hurt on the job in 1965, the bureau still wanted to know how many hours they toiled in this haven of safety during the past 12 months.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department sends out reams of information. Most of it is good but for lack of space, very little of it ever finds its way into newspaper print.

TPW's best dollar on publicity is spent on its remarkable magazine which it issues monthly.

My pet peeve, though, is the publicity seeking free loaders.

A number of professional groups regard advertising as far below the dignity of their high callings. They won't even so much as let practitioners of their professions run a one inch ad in any newspaper.

Yet, these same groups spend thousands if not millions of dollars annually bombarding newspapers across the nation with "public service" stories. Few, if any, of these "stories" ever get into print simply because newspaper publishers recognize them for what they are, an effort to get free advertising.

Then there are companies, such as airlines, that make a noble effort to get favorable newspaper mention without the trouble of decorating the mahogany with coin of the realm.

I got into a hassle with one airline president over the efforts of his company to get some free publicity in a newspaper I published.

I figured up how much his company was spending annually on sending me stories which I did not print. It was enough for his firm to have purchased a full page of advertising once a year.

I wrote the company president and suggested that he spend the sum on legitimate advertising instead of trying to get a deadhead ride.

He replied that it was against company policy.

I asked him what respect he would retain for my intellectual capacity were I to present myself at the ticket window of his airline each Monday and ask for a free airplane ride to Dallas and upon being refused, keep up the fruitless and embarrassing practice for 13 years.

My newspaper was taken off the airline mailing list.

In spite of the reams of useless mail we get daily, no newspaper is anxious to stop it. In the chafe there is always some grain and it is a newspaper editor's lot to be continually sifting the trash to get at the wheat.

Visiting with the Clayton C. Kelleys during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Beaty and children, Barry, Nancy, Kelley and Kyle, of Abilene and the Kelleys daughter Lee Ann, who is a student at Abilene Christian College.

Child Mental Center Explained To Court

Commissioners court Monday heard an explanation of Children's Psychiatric Center from Dr. Leta Boswell, member of the center board of directors.

Randall County contributes to support of the center.

Dr. Boswell told the court that the center now treats only on an out-patient basis but presently is breaking ground for a hospital.

Dr. Boswell said she has been pleased with results from the center which treats disturbed children through teenage.

Randall County is in arrears last year's commitment to the center of $4,000. The center has requested $6,000 for the coming year.

Commissioners agreed to instruct that immediate payment of the $4,000 be made and to delay decision on the requested $6,000 until the county budget is revised next month.

The court took no action on a request for a raise of $300 a year for the county librarian, Mrs. Chester Pierle.

Mrs. Cristler Crain, member of the library board, made the request declaring that Mrs. Pierle is an excellent librarian. If the raise is granted, Mrs. Pierle would draw $1500 a year. She works part time.

"I don't want to lose her," Mrs. Crain declared.

County Judge Lloyd King told the court that he, District Attorney George Dowlen and District Judge Gene Jordan have conferred on the county's probation officer needs. At present the county uses a probation officer jointly with two other counties -- Potter and Armstrong -- which make up the 47th Judicial District.

The county has no juvenile probation officer. Canyon Police Chief L. D. Caldwell had been acting in that capacity but has announced that he no longer would be able to serve.

King said Judge Jordan contends that it would be illegal for an adult probation officer to double as juvenile probation officer.

He also declared that a probation officer would need a college degree or the equivalent in experience.

The district attorney is expected to make recommendations to commissioners court after further study.

In other action, the court completed a contract with Mrs. Ann Rayburn of Hereford for compiling a delinquent tax roll.

The court authorized the advertising for bids for a desk and three chairs for the office of the county clerk. The county auditor was authorized to order an attachment for a computer owned by the county. The attachment, not to exceed $225 cost, is to be used in making the county pay roll.

FB Board Meet Set

Proposed amendments to county by laws will be acted upon at a meeting of Randall County Farm Bureau board of directors to be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Farm Bureau building.

Arrangements also will be made for the annual banquet and community meetings.

Presiding will be R. B. Gist, Jr., president.

Holiday houseguests of the E.D. Morris family were their sons, Captain Alvin B. Morris of Panama, and Charlie Morris, who was enroute to Viet Nam.

City Band Calendars Received

Band calendars for 1966 have been received by the Band Parents Club and are being mailed and delivered in person, according to Raymond Raillard, club president.

Any person not receiving his calendar within the next few days is advised to contact Raillard.

Visiting with Mrs. R.A. Neblett during the Christmas holidays was her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Neblett and son Alex, of Houston.

ed efforts such as the National Science Foundation, and research oriented industries.

As considered by Smith and the USOE in August, specialists would be brought to the WTSU campus for periodic study sessions with PESO advisory teams and teachers in the summer.

In conjunction with this Smith attended a meeting in Dallas in September sponsored by the USOE Expanded Cooperative Educational Research Division. Representatives of ten institutions in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana discussed creation of a laboratory center for teacher education in the Southwest, to be operated by the national education office. WTSU would participate actively in such a Dissemination Center for Research Finding.

Under the planning grant approved officially Friday, a regional central planning committee, with Laycock as chairman, will be chosen to sponsor the grant. Included will be fifteen members chosen from the following educational and cultural agencies:

Texas Education Agency; WTSU; public schools, three members; non-profit private schools; Texas Association of School Administrators; Texas Classroom Teacher Association; a non-profit local instructional materials center; Potter-Randall County Community Action Committee; Panhandle Heritage Foundation; three members of selected industries of the region; and Amarillo College as a junior college. Working with these members, Laycock, and Smith will be Dr. Kenneth Laycock, WTSU associate professor of educational administration.

Provision is made for the planning period for a director (Smith), an assistant director, a secretary and a computer program analyst. The secretary will be a full-time employee, while the others will work one-fourth the time.

The planning committee will meet five times between January 1 and June 30 of this year. Once at the beginning of this period and once toward the end, three - day sessions will also be held by a committee of "consultant - evaluators" selected from the four research related areas mentioned above.

Planning is hoped to be completed in time for submission to the USOE to be put into effect by July 1 or by September 1 of 1966. It is currently estimated that an operational grant of $175,000-$200,000 will be sought.

who didn't like him if they knew him."

Jarnagin said Captain Blair probably played his best game against Hardin-Simmons in 1957. Jarnagin remembers a great kickoff runback by Captain Blair.

Ironically, Captain Blair was a friend of Captain Stanley Sapp who also was killed in Viet Nam recently and who was buried in an Amarillo cemetery only last week.

Captain Sapp and Captain Blair were stationed together in Germany. Mrs. Blair sent her husband the newspaper clippings of his friend's death.

"They didn't have time to get to him before he was killed," Captain Blair's father surmised.

While he was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., Captain Blair was honored with the Second Infantry Division Certificate of Achievement. At the time of the award he was serving with the First Battalion, 72nd Armor.

In Viet Nam, Captain Blair was working with Advisory Team 89 out of San Francisco.

Survivors include the wife and parents; a son, John Scott, 6; and a daughter, Sara Sue, 4, all of the home; a brother, Parker Blair of Dallas; two sisters, Mrs. Carl Gene Spears of Tahoka and Mrs. Truitt Lambert of Holly.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced from La Grone Funeral Chapel.

forth a fast line of Texas humor and engages members of his audience in some zany action on stage with him.

In 1960 Blaney was first commissioned Texas Official Ambassador of Goodwill by Governor Price Daniel. He was commissioned again recently by Governor John Connally.

Blaney is a sleight of hand artist and comedian. His magical creations have won him a number of awards in national magician societies.

Last July he was the featured act at the worldwide convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

Blaney is a native of Dallas and is a graduate of the University of Texas. He and his family, a wife and three small daughters, live in Houston.

His antics at the university won him the nickname of "Zaney" and the name stuck.

In September of last year, Governor Carl Sanders of Georgia and Texas Governor John Connally invited Blaney to appear at the Southern Governors Conference in Sea Island, Ga. He entertained 17 Southern governors and many state and national dignitaries.

Members of the Red Carpet Committee will serve as greeters for the banquet.

Visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Moore and family during the holidays was her father, Richard I. White, of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Sander-son of Dallas visited with his parents, the O. B. Sandersons, during the holidays.

Mrs. P.A. Smith from Cleburne visited with her mother, Mrs. S. L. Terry, during the holidays.

ing five communities, met with Foundation officers Thursday for a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Bonnie Whittington, secretary. Its selection of a manager for the theatre project was in keeping with the wishes of Mrs. Edith Eckhardt, who has served as production manager and public relations director the past year.

Mrs. Eckhardt is currently on personal leave until April, when she will resume her position. Raillard's responsibilities will be in addition to those of Mrs. Eckhardt, said Mrs. Harper.

As executive vice president Raillard will take charge of the entire physical plant; of dealings with the Parks Board; and of all purchasing. He will oversee the business phase, including budgets and financial policies. Raillard will work closely with professional advertising men and advisors and will carry out their recommendations. Other responsibilities include making himself available for lectures and program speaking, as well as working on future plans for the Foundation.

Raillard is thoroughly familiar with the idea and development of the Foundation, having served on the organizational committee, and later on the building committee and the executive board. "Last year, whenever something had to be done, we called Mr. Raillard," commented Mrs. Harper. "He found so many ways to be helpful."

The board had decided, previous to his selection, that an able local man who had followed the theatre from the beginning would be preferable to a technically experienced person unfamiliar with the project. They felt the techniques could be learned, and among his efforts in this area, Raillard plans to attend the March convention of the Institute of Outdoor Drama in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

As First Vice President L.P. Gilvin expressed it: "What happened here last year (when 36,000 persons saw "Thundering Sounds of the West") was a miracle," and unless one understands this he may do more harm than good.

Plans are continuing for presentation in the summer of 1966 of a new Paul Green epic being written for Pioneer Theatre. Its title is "Texas," and it will tell the story of development of the Golden Spread in the days of the cattlemen. The summer season will open with a Founders' Festival July 1-6, and regular season will begin July 7.

"This is one of the most exciting things I've ever been involved in," said Raillard as he looked forward to the coming season. The new manager was recently presented with an Outstanding Citizen Award by Canyon Kiwanis Club for his civic "achievements which will endure."

Foremost of these services were his work with the Foundation and also as past president and active member of Canyon Community Concerts. Raillard is current president of the Canyon Band Parents Association.

He has an extensive music background. Born in Dalhart, he graduated from West Texas State University with a degree in music. He is a former band director for Wheeler and Floyd, performed in the Amarillo Symphony and has had experience in playing with and booking dance bands.

Raillard is also active with the Amarillo Area Fund. He has been involved in the lumber business for twenty years, the past fifteen of which have been spent in Canyon. Business experience includes accounting and bookkeeping. He is a past president of Rotary Club.

The executive vice president is a deacon and Sunday School superintendent of the First Baptist Church here. He and his wife Virginia have three children, Mark, 15; Mike, 12; Miles, 11.

As the Heritage Foundation begins to organize and plan for the coming year, work is being done at the amphitheatre. A gift of $35,000 worth of materials and labor is being made as workers pave the parking lot and actors' parking, and provide a paved apron around the dressing rooms.

Organized by L.P. Gilvin, the project involves materials donated by contractors Cooper and Woodruff of Amarillo, and workers and machines are being provided to complete the paving by general contractors Gilvin and Terrill, also of Amarillo.

Holiday guests in the Meade Humphries home included Lois and Hap Palmquist of Trinidad, Colorado; Jimmy Kuhlman of Kearney, Nebraska; and Major and Mrs. Neil Stovall of San Antonio.

according to Mrs. Frank Kimbrough, general chairman. Awards of $75, $50 and $25 will be made in each of the divisions, high school and merit award.

High school division is open to students in grades nine through twelve, while the merit award division is open to artists of any age who do not receive more than one-half of their income from the sale of art.

The exhibition will be open to the public on January 14-15 between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Entries should be in place before 6 p. m. January 13 and will be removed from the exhibit area January 16.

Registration fee is $1 per entry and will be used to make up local awards, said Mrs. Kimbrough. Mrs. Sherwood Blasdel of Canyon is the Randall County chairman for the exhibition. Mrs. Mary Lee Garrett, artist and owner of the Clovis Art Gallery in Clovis, New Mexico, will be a judge for the show. The show will be judged between the hours of 7-10 p. m. January 13.

Second judge for the show will be Mrs. Blanche Lenderson of Muleshoe, artist and teacher and a member of the Muleshoe Art Association, Carlsbad Art Association and Lubbock Art Association.

Mrs. Garrett studied with Walter Hock, Emilio Caballero of West Texas State University, and Frederick Taubes, international authority on painting techniques. She has had many one-man shows, including two in Pennsylvania, and has exhibited at the Roswell Circle Show in Roswell, New Mexico; the Sun Carnival Exhibition in El Paso; the Museum of New Mexico; Biennial Travel Show; the Taubes Art Colony Travel Show; the Taubes Invitational Show at the El Paso Museum; the Burr Gallery in New York; and Reynolds Gallery in Taos, New Mexico.

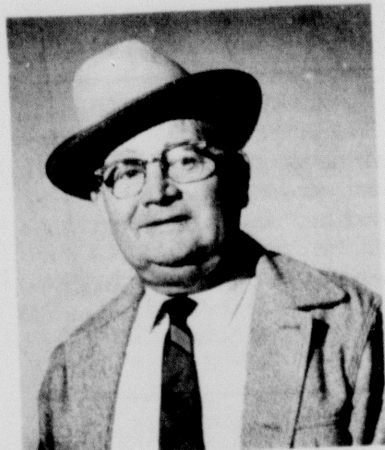

Mrs. Lenderson attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock and attended the South Plains Workshop in 1956 at Lubbock. She also attended workshops in Cloudcroft, New Mexico, where she studied with Raymond Froman, portrait painter; Gary Pierce, water colorist; Rex Brandt, water colorist; and Frank Gervasi, oil painting. A second place in Region 20, Lubbock, was won by Mrs. Lenderson in 1958, and she took first place in mixed media for the region in 1960. Her work was shown in the Exchange Exhibit between Texas Tech and Hanover, Germany. She has been invited for one-man shows at West Texas State University, Methodist Hospital in Lubbock and by the Muleshoe Art Association. Mrs. Lenderson takes an active part in the Foreign Exchange Student program and has had two students as members of her household.

Brim Class To Be Held This Spring

Graduate level education course, "Problems in Teaching Elementary Science," will be offered as a night class at West Texas State University second semester, rather than as a summer class.

Education 570 is designed, according to its instructor Dr. Burl Brim, to help teachers explore the most recent methods in elementary science teaching, and to bring themselves up to date on new subject matter content.

While it has previously been offered only during the summer months, it will begin second semester as a 7 p. m. Tuesday evening class.

Guest speakers and possible Saturday field trips are being planned by Brim. The instructor anticipates also more time spent in the study of astronomy, particularly in light of recent information from the Manned Space Center, which stresses navigation in outer space, using astronomical bodies as guides. Night classes offer unique opportunities in such study to the course, he continued, and an effort will be made to take advantage of them.

Speakers from outside the area, such as from the space center, will be invited, and the class will continue to take advantage of local authorities in the fields of geology, physics and chemistry, said Brim.

Registration for evening classes will be held January 25 in the Student Union Building.

Circle K Sponsors Beards

Circle K Club of West Texas State University has announced plans for a "Beardman's Dance" in conjunction with a campus-wide beard growing contest.

Tentatively set for early March, the dance will include the awarding of prizes for "best beard," "wierdest beard" and "nice try beards."

The Circle K Club is a junior club sponsored by Kiwanis International. Entries in the contest may be made at the Student Union Building.

Probation Is Lifted By NCAA

"Full rights and privileges" of National Collegiate Athletic Association membership have been restored to West Texas State University, according to a telegram received Monday by Dr. James P. Cornette, president.

Cornette was advised by Everett D. Barnes, NCAA president, that the one-year probation without sanctions given WT last year has been terminated.

The school had been found to be in violation of legislation dealing with financial assistance, or grants-in-aid to student athletes. The violations involved a three-year period of imposing fines as disciplinary action against 128 athletes.

Radio Club In New Home

Buffalo Radio Club met Tuesday evening in its new clubhouse at 1710-B Fourth Avenue to study Morse Code and radio theory.

The newly organized amateur radio club meets every Tuesday evening, with instruction in Morse Code given by Pat Jarrett and theory classes conducted by Billy Walker.

Class was instigated January 4, with ten non-members attending that meeting. All persons interested in amateur radio operation are invited to attend the club meeting. The organization has fifteen members at present.

Classes leads to achievement of Novice Class License in radio operation.

Maj. McGinn Transferred

Major Harry McGinn will be transferred to Viet Nam in February.

Major McGinn has served as supply officer for the Reserve Officers Training Corps and as a military history instructor at West Texas State University.

Senate Asks Lower Fee For Class Change

In a special meeting called Monday the Student Senate adopted a resolution requesting the administration of West Texas State University to reduce the drop-add fee of $2.50 to 50 cents per course change.

The $2.50 fee has been declared effective for the spring semester, according to Dr. Walter H. Juniper, dean of the university, for the purpose of cutting down on the number of changes made in programs. Under the system the amount would be charged each time a student drops or adds a course between registration and the twelfth day of class. Students forced to make program changes because a course has been dropped from the curriculum after they register will not be charged the penalty fee.

In discussion begun by graduate senator Tommy Mansker, it was pointed out that most students add a course when they drop one, creating a charge of $5. Senators agreed that they felt the penalty too high and suggested it be lowered to 50 cents.

Included in the resolution was a request that funds received be delegated to the Student Union Building. According to Senate President Randy Chennault, announcement of the recent $2.50 fee had stated the fee was for the purpose of discouraging changes rather than raising revenue for the university, and students present expressed feelings that funds could be used beneficially by the Student Union Building for maintenance and improvements. Plans have called for the money to go into the general fund of the school.

Fun 'n' Folk

BY LINDA LOVE

Have you had a chance yet to see the special exhibit in the Fine Arts Hall of Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum? It's really something, and would be a fine jaunt for school classes to make.

On display are twelve paintings by ten of the greatest American artists, and they make up a collection of scenes of great events in American history. Their beauty is enough to warrant a visit by art lovers, but their true artistry is in the life they bring to such events as the Alamo stand, colonial independence and the space venture of John Glenn. What with the bright colors and all the action they portray, they should be quite effective in providing something special for the youngsters.

ly in Cinerama or after it went into general release -- I imagine the latter -- but it seems that this is one of those "all-star" casts.

That creates quite a dilemma, in that there's no way to put all the stars' names on an ad, but protests come flying every time they begin to pick and choose. So in many cities they've had to omit all actors' names and just advertise the show on its own merits and reputation, which seem to be substantial.

Oh, well, as Will Rogers said, "What Movies need is another name for an All-Star Cast."

Hughes Has Fossil Story

Jack T. Hughes, head of the geology department of West Texas State University and curator of paleontology for Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, is co-author of an article appearing in the fall edition of American Midland Naturalist, a publication of the University of Notre Dame.

The article describes Pleistocene age horse fossils discovered in the West Texas region. Co-author with Hughes is Walter W. Dalquest of Midwestern University.

Fossil remains of the prehistoric horse "equus conversidens" were found by the authors in Canyon and in a quarry near Slaton. The species is related to the small horses which roamed the plains area from Mexico to the Midwest and Southeast during the Pleistocene Age.

I see that "The Hallelujah Trail" is showing here. (Must put in a plug for something written by a graduate of my favorite professional writing school.)

It reminds me that they've had quite a bit of trouble publicizing this comedy, so its success has been mostly due to word-of-mouth. I don't know whether the problem arose while it was showing exclusive-

WT Meets Greyhounds At Portales Saturday

BY ART ALBRACHT

Revenge is the name of the game when West Texas State University travels to Portales to meet the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds at 8 p. m. Friday.

The Greyhounds wounded the Buffs when ENMU upset the Herd 74-72 in WTSU's second game of the season, and now the rampaging Buffs have a chance to avenge that humiliating defeat. As if revenge wasn't enough incentive, the Buffs also have a chance to extend their humble winning streak to three games if they can beat the Hounds.

Opening the season with eight straight losses, the Buffs almost forgot what it was like to be a winner but it didn't take them long to find that the taste of victory is sweet when the Herd clobbered a pair of foes this past week. Now that the Herd is back on the winning trail, things have brightened up in the Buffalo camp with hopes for a winning season still alive.

WTSU still must play games against Oklahoma City, Texas Western, Hardin-Simmons and Abilene Christian, so apparently, the Herd has its work cut out if it plans to end the season over the .500 mark.

In dropping their first meeting to ENMU, the Buffs had a fair shooting night but the defense collapsed. On the recent road trip, the WTSU quintet appears to have conquered the inadequacies of defense. Panhandle A&M mustered only 63 points against the stout Herd defense in Monday night's clash in Buffalo Field House.

WTSU allowed the Hounds an unusual number of drive shots in the first battle between the schools and if the Buffs are to defeat the ENMU quintet on its home court, the Herd must keep the Hounds from getting easy shots.

Wilson Watkins, a 6-3 transfer from Indianapolis, Ind., rammed in 29 points against WTSU. A forward, Watkins tops the Buffs in scoring with a 17.5 average through nine battles. Watkins, Coach Harry Miller's most consistent performer so far, also chalked up 29 markers when the Aggies ripped Wayland Baptist College 90-81 recently.

ENMU stands 5-6 if you count a win over Pt. Mugu, a service team, in the San Diego Tournament played Dec. 20-22. Losses have been to Texas Western 89-38, Sul Ross State 87-77, New Mexico State 91-83, San Diego University 64-63, Colorado Western 66-56, and Southwestern Oklahoma 86-72. Wins other than those over Pt. Mugu, WTSU, and Wayland Baptist College, came over Colorado Western 67-59, and Adams State 82-74.

Coach Harry Miller of the Hounds came to his alma mater, ENMU, this season after coaching for five years at Fresno State College in California. Miller began the season with only four returning letterman, among them acrobatic center, Joe Allen, Allen, a 6-3 senior, is one of the smallest centers in college basketball but his tremendous jumping ability makes up for a big part of his height disadvantage.

Starting opposite Watkins at a forward position will be 6-4 sophomore Ronald Oram. Opening at guard spots are expected to be 6-2 Dan Hays, a sophomore, and 6-foot transfer, Rodger Hessler. Hessler with his excellent driving ability killed the Buffs with his numerous layups in the Herd loss to ENMU.

Mickey Fitts leads the Herd attack with an average of 15.3 points a game and also tops WTSU in percentage with a field goal consistency of 51.8. Gail Simpson increased his average to 9.7 markers a contest by tallying 29 points in the last two Buffalo games. Also starting for the resurgent Buffs will be 6-7 Calvin Taylor, 5-9 Joe McWilliams, and 6-5 Ron Gardner.

The Herd lays off a week for finals after the ENMU clash, before returning to the court in Abilene against Abilene Christian on Jan. 22.

Kirby Pugh and his Freshmen basketballers do battle with the ENMU frosh at six p. m. tomorrow. Riding the crest of a three game winning streak, the Stompers already own an 85-49 win over ENMU, Saturday, the Frosh move on to Leveland to meet South Plains Junior College.

Estes Park, Colorado, will be the scene of a mid-semester trip sponsored by the Church of Christ Student Center.

The retreat will be held January 21-24. Individual cars will take members of the center and other interested students to the resort on January 21.

Enroute home the group will tour Colorado Springs, Garden of the Gods, and Royal Gorge.

The Stompers, who use primarily a run and shoot offense with effective use of the fast break, oiled up its offense with about 15 minutes left in the game. West Texas State University exploded to jump into a 78-73 margin with 11:59 remaining. Graham Plow then made a comeback in the seesaw battle and moved into a brief three point lead.

WTSU, seeing a five point lead dissolve into a deficit in minutes, fired back to grab the lead which it never relinquished. With 2:05 left, the Stompers held a 111-98 advantage and shortly marked up their second upset of the season.

The other upset came over South Plains Junior College 96-73 last Saturday as the Stompers again used an explosive fast break to run away with the game. In the hard fought battle against the SPJC Texans, Gary Sikes led the way to a Herd victory with 17 big points. Jerry Cooper, who turned in a magnificent rebounding job, added 15 markers to rank second to Sikes in individual Herd scoring. Tom Higgins and Washington came through to spark the second half spurge by the Stompers, who trailed by two points at half-time.

The Stompers are on a three game winning streak after a slow start, which probably could be attributed to the lack of experience the Freshmen had as a team, in the early going. After viewing the Freshmen in their last two games, perhaps Coach Kirby Pugh's Freshmen Stompers will be practically invincible the rest of the way. Whether they will or not remains a question of the future.

The course, Business 443, places emphasis on subject matter dealing with the law section of the CPA examination.

Dr. Zeke Marchant, associate professor of business, notes that this is the first offer of such a course in more than four years.

Stompers Win Over Graham

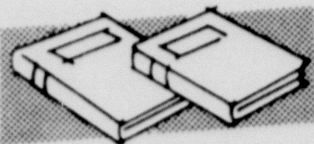

Racing to a 116-102 victory over the Graham Plow quintet in the Buffalo Field House last Monday, the Frosh Stompers moved over the .500 mark for the first time this season.

The Stompers own a 4-3 record through seven outings and will go for their fifth win against the Eastern New Mexico University freshmen in Portales this Friday.

Guard John Washington sparked the Stompers to the victory over Graham Plow, turning in a spectacular passing and shooting performance in the final stanza of the battle. Marvin Mitchell burned the nets for 41 points to lead all scoring in the fracas, which featured a blistering pace from start to finish. Jerry Cooper of Borger, racked up 28 points, in the game.

Kirby Pugh's Chargers trailed by a 54-48 count at the intermission and cut the opposition's lead to only a pair of points shortly after the half. With 17:06 remaining, the Freshmen began to find field goal range but the defense weakened against the experienced Graham Plow quintet.

Buffaloes Trounce Two Foes To Hit Win Trail

BY ART ALBRACHT

With the fury of a thunderstorm, the West Texas State University Buffaloes ended an eight game victory drought last week by exploding for victories over New Mexico State (99-79) and Panhandle A&M (85-63).

In both games, the hungry Herd held comfortable leads at the intermission periods with the final halves simply runaway finishes. Against the NMSU quintet, the Buffs out rebounded the taller Aggies, who featured 7-foot Mike Dabich at center. NMSU, which experienced a very cold shooting night, completely collapsed when the seven foot, Dabich, fouled out with slightly less than 15 minutes left in the game.

Though the presence of Dabich was a physical as well as a mental obstacle to overcome, the Buffs already held a huge margin when Dabich fouled out. Even while Dabich was in the game, the Herd held a rebounding edge. Calvin Taylor grabbed off 12 rebounds while leading scorer, Mickey Fitts picked up 13 caroms. Fitts bucketed 21 points while 5-9 Joe McWilliams added 20 markers in his finest shooting performance of the season.

In the slaughter of the weak Aggies of Panhandle A&M, the WTSU quintet demolished the Sooner delegation with a tremendous shooting night, which saw the Herd sink 37 of 66 field goal attempts for an amazing 56.1 percent.

WTSU jumped into a 30 point lead with 10 minutes left and at that point Coach Jimmy Viramontes cleared his entire bench going with his second unit. Before time ran out in the fracas, every player on the Buffalo squad had marked in the Herd scoring totals. Skip Moore of Canyon was the last man to enter the scoring column for the Buffs, when he hit a 15-foot jump shot with 1:59 remaining.

In the latter stages of the A&M-Buffalo clash, the Aggies began to cut the margin of defeat but a last minute push by the Herd substitutes kept Panhandle from coming closer than 20 points. When the game opened it was evident that the Aggies came to play and the tough A&M quintet never letup, though they were out of the game early in the final stanza.

A relatively large group of Panhandle supporters were on hand for the battle which drew about 1,000 fans. The early stages of the contest saw the Aggies stay right with the superior Buffaloes. With 8:49 remaining in the first half, the Aggies trailed by only a pair of markers at 21-19. At that point, 6-5 Ron Gardner of Amarillo led a Herd scoring spree which resulted in 10 straight points by WTSU and a 12 point advantage for the Buffaloes.

Gardner, who rammed in 13 markers in the fracas, scored six points in the scoring burst by WTSU. Playmaker Gail Simpson and McWilliams setup baskets with alert passes which wrecked the A&M defense. The teams then exchanged baskets before the Aggies tallied a charity toss to reduce the WTSU margin by one. Not satisfied with the 11 point lead, the Herd barged three points while shutting out the Aggies.

The Herd advantage continued to hold around the 12-15 point area before the half, which ended with the Buffs leading 44-29.

In the final stanza, the Herd shooting was just too much for the cold Aggies and soon the Buffs had surged into an overwhelming margin of 30 points. WTSU moved the ball very well, which resulted in many easy baskets, as the Herd worked their deliberate offense to perfection. Simpson, who enjoyed his finest night so far this season on the home court, triggered the attack, as he did a fine job of passing plus tallying 14 points to top the Herd scoring.

Holding a 72-42 advantage, Coach Viramontes sent in Jody Richardson to replace Simpson. Jack Johnson for Ron Gardner, and later Moore for Mickey Fitts. In the early minutes, the reserves were ice cold while the Aggies found the range for the first time in the game, cutting the deficit to 73-52 with five minutes left. The remainder of the fracas saw the second unit hold the margin, staying even with the Aggies, with the Buffs finally winning by 22 points.

Vernon Welch of Borger and Fred Alexander held the top scoring honors with 15 points apiece, for the only bright spots in a dreary night for the Aggies. Welch turned in an excellent job and was the only consistent performer in an otherwise, erratic A&M attack.

Also scoring in double figures for the Buffs other than Simpson and Gardner, were Fitts with 13 points, Johnson 13, and Bill Reeves 10 markers.

In the drought-breaking victory over New Mexico State, the Buffs shot at a field goal consistency of 44.4 percent compared to the visitors' 36.1 percent. The biggest reason for the fine Herd showing against the Aggies can be traced to the rebounding figures which showed WTSU with a 56-51 rebounding advantage.

Larry Mason of NMSU, with 25 points, topped all scorers for the evening. In scoring his 21 points, Fitts split the net on eight of 16 field goal attempts and added five charity tosses in seven tries.

WTSU now takes to the road to tangle with Eastern New Mexico University tomorrow and Abilene Christian on Jan. 14, before hosting Sul Ross State Jan. 25, in its next home court appearance.

ENGAGEMENT AND APPROACHING marriage of Miss Reba Sue Raef is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Raef of Umbarger. Miss Raef will become the bride of Marlon Edward Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hicks of Canyon, in nuptial vows set for February 9 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger. Monsignor Bosen will officiate. Both Miss Raef and her fiancé are graduates of Canyon High School. He is engaged in farming near Umbarger and Miss Raef is presently employed with the First National Bank of Canyon.

MRS. JOHN LESLIE PLANK

Former WT Coach To Hall Of Fame

Although the late Sam Burton never played basketball, his coaching accomplishments in the sport for the West Texas State Buffaloes have earned him a place in the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame. Installation ceremonies have been set Jan. 30 at the YMCA Building in Amarillo.

Through 12 seasons, Burton's teams not only gained national recognition, but from 1922-1933 his teams won 211 games and lost only 42 for an .834 percentage. The Buffaloes beat arch-rival Texas Tech 29 of 31 times during this period.

As an athlete, Burton started the practice of sparkling in sports he had not previously played.

He attended Erick, Okla., High School. As the school only played baseball, he learned the game and later starred as a pitcher and catcher.

Although he had no previous experience in football, he made the University of Oklahoma team as a guard and was named All-Oklahoma and All-Southwestern guard by many sports writers.

After graduation from the University of Oklahoma, he coached one year in his home town and two years at Mountain View, Okla. He went to Southwestern Teachers College as athletic director in 1916.

In 1920, Burton was recalled to the University of Oklahoma as an assistant to Bennie Owens. He moved to Canyon in 1921.

At WT, Burton coached the Buffs in football, basketball, track, tennis, baseball, and wrestling. His football teams won 22 lost 21 and tied four.

WT's basketball teams, under Burton, dominated the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Of seven conference championships awarded, the Buffaloes won five and never placed lower than third. His finest basketball teams were during his last two years as coach. He died June 7, 1933. His Buffs had won 20 of 24 games in the 1932-1933 season.

In the 1931-1932 season, the team played mainly college and university foes and compiled a 20-3 record, winning the final 13 consecutive games of the season.

Mrs. Burton lives in Canyon. The Burtons had two children, a son and a daughter.

Other members in the Hall of Fame from WTSU are Joe Fortenberry, who played for Burton; Gus Miller, former WT basketball coach; and Frank Kimbrough, WTSU athletic director.

Also to be honored at the awards affair will be Sam Hale, who compiled a .302 batting average through 10 major league baseball seasons.

This is the first time an award has been made posthumously and also the first time two men have been taken into the hall of fame during one year.

Coaches and athletes of the year in football, basketball, track, golf, tennis, and baseball also will be honored at the installation ceremonies. The Dee Henry Memorial Award for the area's most courageous athlete also will be presented.

Cobb Funeral Is Conducted

Funeral services for former Happy resident Bruce Cobb, 55, of Plainview were conducted Tuesday of last week in the First Christian Church of Plainview.

Burial was in Memory Gardens Cemetery near Canyon. Mr. Cobb died January 3 following a heart attack. He had been a resident of Happy from 1951-1958.

Survivors included his wife Frances, a daughter, Mrs. Leroy Mayfield of Bovina; three sisters, three brothers, and two grandsons.

Cowpokes Tip Owls

Happy, with a fantastic shooting spree in the final stanza, whipped Hale Center 60-53 to win the Hale Center Tournament last weekend.

The Cowgirls grabbed the consolation prize in the same tourney by nipping Cotton Center 37-36.

The Cowboys rammed in nine of 11 field goal attempts in the last quarter for an unbelievable 82 percent. Happy trailed by six points entering the last period but the Cowboys burned the nets for 21 points and the victory before time ran out. Standing 11-6 on the season, the Cowboys take on Hart to open district action this Tuesday.

In moving into the finals against Hale Center, the Cowboys beat Kress 57-45 and clobbered Silverton 56-32. Gary Culp, a 6-foot senior forward, chalked up 18 points to top the Cowboy scoring against Hale Center. Bob Robinson, runner-up to Culp in scoring with 15 points, also turned in a strong rebounding job.

The Cowgirls fell to Silverton 56-36 in the opening round of the tournament but came back to take O'Donnell 59-27, and Cotton Center by a point in the consolation match. Dixie McGehee was the shooting star for the Cowgirls totaling 91 points in three games, with her biggest game coming against O'Donnell when she scored 37 markers.

Happy continues to show a well balanced attack in boys court action. In the Kress game of the tourney, four Cowboys scored in double figures. The only starter that hasn't shown strong shooting potential is sophomore Mike Starker, but the 6-2 forward's rebounding more than makes up for his lack of shooting power.

Friday night, Happy travels to Bovina to take on both the girls and boys teams of that city, in another pair of conference matches.

Canyon Students Hear Former Castro Officer

"I helped to destroy my own country," said Major Pedro Diaz Lanz Friday to students of Canyon High School, "but I thought I was fighting for freedom."

"We were mostly peaceful, well-intentioned people, people like you, living in our beautiful little island," said the former commander-in-chief of Castro's Cuban Air Force. "Then one morning the people awoke to disorders and 'peaceful demonstrations' — California-type — and to riots, and a few years later came the strange sounds of the firing squads." This was the beginning of the end, said Lanz. The major was commander of the Rebel Air Force, taking national command when Castro came to power. He was the first high ranking official to denounce Castro and communism, fleeing to the United States with his wife six and a half years ago. Now a resident of Tulsa, Oklahoma, he travels throughout the nation, speaking of his experiences with "the unbelievable and fantastic international conspiracy" which engulfed his own country.

How were a handful of communists able to take over a land of millions of people? asked Major Lanz as he told the Canyon youth of the change from freedom to political trials held in baseball stadiums, like ancient Roman games.

He described briefly the means by which Lenin, with seventeen men, was able to take over Russia, a country of 200,000,000 people, by winning cooperation of "peaceful, good hearted" citizens. "He promised them peace and anti-poverty program," said Lanz. "His words were 'peace, land and bread,' and it was very simple for him to brand anyone who opposed him as being against peace, or against farmers or poor people. And he called them extremists."

"When I denounced Castro as a communist and spoke against their ways," continued the major, "he called me mentally ill, a right-winger, and an extremist. That's what comes when you attempt to call a murderer a murderer."

"It was just as it had happened in Russia, and Poland, and so many other countries, but that horrible tragedy did not help us to see, did not open our eyes to what communism is, and in the end the firing squads and Nazi-type concentration camps came to Cuba."

Lanz had opened the assembly program by stating that he is a "born-again Christian" since his coming to this country. "It takes courage to choose between one thing and another," he commented as he told of men taken before firing squads. Told that their lives would be spared if they would deny God and Christ, their final cry would be "Long live Christ the King! Long live Cuba!"

Lanz described a 16-year-old Cuban boy who was taken before six fake firing squads, and each time he repeated the cry. The seventh time they killed him. The courage and faith of such men, said the major, has its effect on the squads themselves, until the soldiers may become fearful of the very men they are killing.

Like many other Cubans, Lanz continued, he had made the mistake of looking at Cuban communists and thinking that they were the same as everyone else. What they did not realize, he said, was that the communists were atheists, godless traitors.

"They do not believe in God," he explained, "and so they have no frame of morality. Men become worse than the worst of the beasts when they do not believe in God."

"Starvation, agonizing... that is the real meaning of communism," charged the major as he described atrocities performed by communist soldiers in Cuba, as in other conquered nations. Lanz's brother is dying of starvation in a Cuban concentration camp, and the exile told of attacks upon his brother's sister-in-law, of acts of torture and degradation which take place in the camps, and of the destruction of his mother.

"Can you coexist with gangsters?" he asked. "The Cubans coexisted with the Communist Party, and look what happened. If the millions of people murdered had known, if the 33,000 people who have been killed trying to escape from the island had known all this... if Cuban people had known what communism meant, they (communists) would never have been able to take over."

Lanz praised Americans who had tried to help Cuba, and expressed the great debt he felt to them. "I am not an American, but I am willing to give my life to save America," he said. "That is my challenge: What are you willing to do for America?"

"It is clear, when riots begin and when we give 21-gun salutes to communists who have murdered millions of people, that something is going wrong in America," he claimed.

"The great majority of people in any country are good hearted people. 'Peace' is the key word: they want peace, but the more you hear the word mentioned, the more there is hate and destruction and violence."

"But I know that if you will know the truth about communism, and what it is, you will help save this nation. And when it is safe, then I can return to free my own country."

Canyon youth gave Major Lanz an enthusiastic standing ovation, then remained on their feet as he read the Biblical scriptures dealing with the "armor" of a Christian and spoke a brief prayer. "I could come to America from Cuba," he said later, "but from America there will be no place to go."

CANYON DAWN BUSHLAND

Canyon Woman Using Talents In Germany

By SSgt. Dick Kemp
STUTTGART, Germany -- "You don't meet people and you don't see interesting things sitting in the house".

So says Mrs. George S. Oliver, 36-year-old wife of an Army lieutenant colonel who through her interest in people and the theater is turning her first overseas tour into an American goodwill program.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimbrough of Canyon, Texas, where her father is athletic director of West Texas State University, Beth Oliver has put her Texas acquired drama training to use in radio, the theater and in opening the hearts of the people of Stuttgart. "Our foreign language is nil but our foreign friends are many," Mrs. Oliver noted, adding one must not let the lack of facility with a foreign language hinder an interest in the community.

"You have to go on and get out anyway," she said.

Beth Oliver did not want to come to Germany in August, 1964. "I insisted we were going to Hawaii all the way over," she said.

The time a U. S. Army family must spend on duty in Europe is three years. She says it is a long time to be away from one's family and relations.

Today, nearly 18 months after her arrival, she enthusiastically states, "I love it."

Mrs. Oliver was graduated from West Texas State University in 1950 with a BA in speech and drama. The following year, she received a masters in drama from Baylor University at Waco.

Acting in summer stock in Texas, teaching as a member of the Baylor drama department and serving as director of the Baylor University Children's Theater for two years further equipped her for the role she lives today.

She now serves as program chairman for the Seventh U. S. Army Officers Wives Club, conducts a weekly radio show as well as interviews personalities for listeners of the Armed Forces Network and performs regularly with the troupe of the English Language Theater of the Amerika Haus Stuttgart.

Her activities as an American in the modern Federal Republic of Germany are closely related to her background and training and her first real interest -- people.

"Her radio work on AFN Stuttgart, all voluntary, includes a 10-minute Saturday morning program called 'At Home With Beth.'"

It is not always done at home. "I try to bring the audience events and places in Stuttgart that people can go and see," she said.

Her program has taken her to Stuttgart theaters, museums, the famed Wilhelma Zoo, Killesberg Park exhibitions and a variety of community activities.

Recording for AFN shows as "On the Scene," she has interviewed German and American personalities including noted composers, singers, the current Miss Europe, housewives with "a different occupation" and American expatriates in Europe.

Mrs. Oliver has worked with AFN Stuttgart since January, 1965. Her weekly show has been on the air since May.

She became active in the English Language Theater the month following the arrival of the Oliver family in Stuttgart.

This group is sponsored by Amerika Haus Stuttgart, a facility of the U. S. Information Service, and includes Americans both in and out of uniform. Their productions are in English and are presented as a means of filling a specific need in the cultural life of this metropolitan area of more than one million people.

So highly regarded is the English Language Theater and its members that it is regularly attended and reviewed by drama critics of local German newspapers who write of it as they do the professional theater of the city. The group has been asked to give two guest performances in March, 1966, at the Baden-Wuerttemberg State Theater, a unique request of such an organization.

Lieutenant Colonel Oliver, a 37-year-old graduate of the U. S. Military Academy (Class of 1950), is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Oliver, of 3211 Hayden Ave., Amarillo, Texas.

A member of the Corps of Engineers and commander of an Engineer battalion, the colonel has had prior overseas service in the Republic of Korea during the Korean War and in Iran.

But Mrs. Oliver has been abroad only once before. She spent three months in Paris in 1952 attending the Baylor Art School.

Although she has a maid to help her care for the quarters occupied by the family at Robinson Barracks, Mrs. Oliver does her own cooking. The attraction of the metropolis of Stuttgart draws the couple into one of the many fine restaurants of the city at least once a month, however.

"There are wonderful places to eat at downtown," she said. "We try not to go to the same place."

Asked how she viewed the "gripes" of military men and their families serving in Germany, she said, "I think their gripes are realistic. However, if you go on and get out, then you are not with the problem. You have other things on your mind."

"You don't have to like it but just go try. Anything worth doing requires some effort," Mrs. Oliver added. "I think Europe's advantages are things such as the ballet, opera and the beautiful parks you find in every city of any size."

The blond, blue-eyed Texan

MRS. BETH OLIVER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimbrough of Canyon, is turning her first overseas tour into an American goodwill program through her interest in people and the theater. Mrs. Oliver joined her husband, George, in Germany in August 1964.

says she and her husband entertain "when there is a reason for it and sometimes, when there is no reason, we make one." When they do, some German friends are always included.

One of their recent home gatherings was a Halloween party. "Our German friends bobbed for apples, passed a candy mint on a toothpick and thoroughly enjoyed themselves," she said.

On other occasions, she has served Mexican specialties as tacos and enchiladas or purely American treats.

The Olivers have two children. They are a 10-year-old boy, Dusty, and an 8-year-old girl, Kim.

They believe it is an adult world and the children are raised accordingly. But family fun includes good conversation at a pleasant dinner, leisurely eaten, a song fest with Mrs. Oliver playing piano or the ukulele or visits to parks and the zoo.

However, the children have been to many ballet performances and nearly all of the rehearsals of the theater productions in which she has appeared.

Mrs. Oliver has won many friends in the Old World but one of the most exciting things that ever happened to her was serving as a junior hostess for the tea for the Democrat ladies, the opening event of the inauguration of the late President John F. Kennedy. She attended the inaugural ball as a member of the party of Fred Korth, former Secretary of the Navy, and was present during the inaugural ceremony.

To American Beth Oliver, in the U. S. or in a foreign land, people make it easy to be at home -- and her interest in them makes it easy to be at home with Beth.

Students Learn Weaving Art

BY LORENA MILLER

Weaver: To form by interlacing yarns; to make or manufacture cloth on a loom by interlacing warp and filling yarns. Weaving is a current semester project for some 15 college students who are taking Art 211 under the instruction of Miss Claudia Neelley.

The class ties in with degree requirements of many students and is taken as an elective course. The course is designed for beginners, according to Miss Neelley.

"We hope someday to offer a course in advanced weaving," commented Miss Neelley. Students working at their looms throughout the classroom nodded their agreement for an advanced course.

"You learn to know materials, and the design and quality are interesting to learn about," said Miss Wanda Fairweather, a junior from Amarillo, who had made an evening ensemble from pearl woven fabric.

"We learn to judge the material from the fibers used," stated Miss Fairweather, as Miss Anne Canon, a senior from Midland, commented, "Threading the loom takes a lot of patience, but the enjoyment of the course comes from the actual weaving and a look at the finished product."

"Until I started taking the weaving course I thought very little of the fiber content of material or the quality and size of designs used," added Miss Fairweather. "Of course now we are able to judge the design size and style and make the material to suit our purpose."

From the material made in class a number of articles have been made by the students, according to Miss Kitty Harris, a sophomore from Van Nuys, California, who related that "I make my cloth into articles on a treadle machine."

"We find that our handmade materials are much more valuable than those of comparable quality that are machine made," smiled Miss Neelley. "I think that Kitty's jacket and hat would bring about $75 in a retail shop."

Traditional honeysuckle pattern seems to be the favorite design of the girls in the class, she said.

"Our male students do well in weaving though," Miss Neelley commented of the ability of men to understand the mechanics of the loom more quickly than most girls.

"A person with both creative and mathematical ability seems to catch the fundamentals of the art very quickly," she related.

The classroom has weaving looms of all types, including table and floor looms, and each has a varying number of harnesses through which the thread is woven.

"Students are using the flossa designs quite a lot now," said Miss Neelley indicating the raised patterns being applied in weaving a rug. Tapestry and pattern designs are also used in the weaving of rugs and various materials.

"Patterns are limited on the two harness loom but with our larger looms the students can make many variations by changing the waft and weft threads to show up many intricate designs," said Miss Neelley.

Explaining the variety of weaves Miss Neelley said that "a plain weave is interlaced alternately so that you see both the waft and weft threads, while in a basket weave double threads are interlaced similar to a plain weave; the satin weave includes warp threads interlaced with filling threads to produce a smooth-faced fabric; and the twill weave uses filling threads which pass over one and under two or more warp threads to give an appearance of a diagonal line."

"Sometimes we leave out threads to make a special texture in the cloth," related Miss Neelley. "We can also make stripes, plaids and other effects by changing the thread in the looms."

Euleen Parsons, a junior from Pampa, was busily working on a flossa design which is often used for nap rugs and tapestry bags. Students gathered around Miss Parsons to watch were Miss Cheryl Alexander, a Canyon graduate student; Bernita Paschall, a Lorenzo sophomore; and Ann Frazine, an Amarillo junior.

Other students were busy with a number of projects in the classroom. The three hour class meets twice each week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"We enjoy the long classes, though," said Miss Neelley "and find that our work is much smoother if we have several hours to work at it."

"Tensions in the threads vary each day, and thus our work does too if we have to stop and start again very often," she concluded.
